

PARENT INFORMATION FOR TYROUT PROCEDURE

One way to discover tryout opportunities is to browse our web site. There is a tryout section for each age level and teams looking to add players through tryouts are listed there as THEY choose to make them public.

If you feel you have reached a roadblock there the next option is:

Send me a fresh email with the name and contact information for the parent you wish to be contacted by teams seeking to offer your son a tryout.

Then:

Son's Name

Age on April 30 2016

Height/Weight

Bats/throws

Positions played with emphasis on best position (and state if it's the only position you want him to play if selected---A big mistake, but will save everyone time if you are inexperienced enough to choose that path)

Then provide a brief baseball bio stressing his strengths and/or versatility

I will forward your information to the appropriate age level coordinator, who will then forward it to the teams in that age level. Those with an opportunity will contact you. Ask good questions and make wise decisions, there are differences in level of commitment, cost for participation and coaching ability. Make sure you are fully ready to buy in to the path the team seeks to embark upon.

Note: We do not make our team lists available to anyone outside the respective age level the team competes in. That information is only available when the individual team chooses to make it public on their team web page.
